Emily T. Nguyen

CV of Academic Lowlights
Last Updated: Feb 2024

Below is my approximate CV of failures.

Inspired by Profs Armando Fox and Johannes Haushofer.

I am grateful for these experiences because they have taught me to be resilient and this will help me as a future researcher.

Degree Programs that I did not get into

PhD, Computer Science / Neuroscience   2022

CMU, UC Berkeley, Harvard, Princeton, Stanford, UCI, UCSB, UCSD, UCSB, UCLA

BA, Molecular and Cell Biology   2018

Brown, Columbia, Caltech, Notre Dame, Rice, Stanford, U Penn, Yale, Cornell (waitlist), Harvard, Johns Hopkins, MIT

Papers to conferences/journals that were not accepted

ML4Health   2023

Awards & Fellowships that I did not receive

Soros Fellowship for New Americans   2024

Research Positions that I did not get

Undergraduate Research Apprenticeship Program (URAP)   Spring 2019, Fall 2019

Teaching Positions that I did not get

EECS Department, UC Berkeley   Fall 2019, Spring 2020, Fall 2021
Tutor / Teaching Assistant
- Data8, CS10, CS61A, CS61C, CS70, Data100

EECS Department, UC Berkeley   Fall 2019-Fall 2021
Academic Intern
- Data8, CS61A, CS61B, CS61C, Data100

Miscellaneous

P/NP Classes during Covid   Spring 2020- Spring 2022
- CS186, Data100, CS170, CS189, CS70 (I was able to declare L&S CS since this class was substituted with my EE16B grade), CS161, Geog130